Advanced Diploma of Surface Coal Mining Management (RII60715) – RPL Pathway [TOSIS8]

TNLC Thrivability Training and Coaching is pleased to offer to the resources sector, a recognition of prior learning (RPL) services for individual units and for the full qualification titled, Advanced Diploma of Surface Coal Mining Management.

Who should take advantage of this service?

Candidates looking to have their skills recognised may do it on a unit by unit basis or full Advanced Diploma. It is expected that candidates would have already established the specialist knowledge and skills in their chosen field. To be recognised using an RPL process the candidate will need to gather or develop evidence that covers the unit of competency performance criteria, and undertake an assessment of the required knowledge and performance evidence. For one or more units a Statement of Attainment will be issued and for a full qualification a "Record of Results" and the Advanced Diploma of Surface Coal Mining Management will be awarded. Note for selected units face to face training is available (RIIRIS601D, RIIWHS601D & RIIMEX602D).

Qualifications requirements (Packaging rules):

To get full qualification must do 14 units in total: 6 core, 4 group A electives, up to 4 Group B electives and/or up to 2 others.
